travel | marquis de sand.

if fun in the sun is your thing, book a vacay at one of those all-inclusive resorts. but if luxe is a must, then head to the marquis los cabos and let them do all the heavy lifting for you.

situated at the point where the sea of cortés meets the pacific ocean in mexico, the marquis los cabos is a certified seaside resort. translation? every single room, suite and casita has a view of the sparkling water. but before you think this getaway spot (one of the leading hotels of the world) rests on its laurels, think again; service is at a premium (poolside champagne and ceviche, anyone?), food is first rate (let michelin-star chef thierry dufour prepare you a tasting at the exquisite canto del mar resto), and facilities are better than you'd expect. and although the marquis is no newbie to the los cabos scene, the property's impeccable upkeep will convince you it just opened. so what to do? plunge into one of the three infinity pools that are set to different temps to accommodate fussy guests, book a chocolate-y detoxifying treatment at the award-winning spa (and dip into your own private jacuzzi), or take advantage of the canopy, surf and water tour options avail to guests. but if serious indulgence is where it's at, book one of the 28 private casitas and enjoy your own private plunge pool, swinging hammock, bulgari amenities and breakfast left for you every morning in a private niche.

then make your own circles in the sand. marquis los cabos. carr transpeninsular km 21.5. los cabos, baja california sur, mexico 23400. 877.238.9399. www.marquisloscabos.com
