Turtle Weddings at Los Cabos “Hotel with a Heart”; Marquis Los Cabos Plays Host to Wedding Guests Assisting in Baby Sea Turtle Release

On the beach in front of Marquis Los Cabos Resort, newlyweds Yinh and Kris Abdelmessih and their wedding guests had the opportunity to assist in releasing baby Olive Ridley sea turtles.

Los Cabos, Mexico (November 2, 2009) – This month, the beachfront Marquis Los Cabos Resort offered two newlywed couples and their wedding guests the opportunity to assist in releasing baby Olive Ridley sea turtles, one of the resort’s ecotourism initiatives. Certified by the state-sponsored PROFEPA agency as a sea turtle watch and rescue site, the resort protects five species of turtle eggs from laying as early as June and hatching as early as October.

“The turtle release was such a unique and wonderful addition to our wedding day. We received so many glowing compliments about the experience from guests of all ages. Not only was it something fun and interactive for everyone to do after the ceremony, but it was a wonderful way to wish us well as newlyweds,” said Yinh Abdelmessih of New York, one of the brides who assisted in the release. “The turtle release was one of the biggest hits of the wedding and people are still talking about it - weeks after the event!”

Just as the Olive Ridley Sea Turtle, named for the olive-green color of its heart-shaped shell, returns every year to its birth site, Marquis invites those couples wed at the resort to return on their anniversary with a three-night complimentary stay.

In addition to the anniversary certificate, couples choosing Marquis Los Cabos for their destination wedding also receive deluxe accommodations in a casita with private pool, spa treatments, champagne, romantic gifts, a professional wedding coordinator, and more with the Take the Cake Wedding Package. Special room rates starting at $295 are available for groups. Visit www.marquisloscabos.com or call 1-877-238-9399 for reservations.
